

Scott Jacobs
Managing Director
Jacobs and Associates

Scott Jacobs is a leading global expert and author with 25 years of experience in regulatory reform and good business environments. He is currently Managing Director of Jacobs and Associates, an international corporation specializing in regulatory reform solutions. He organized and directed the influential OECD Program on Regulatory Reform from 1995-2001, where he worked with the governments of the industrialized countries to improve their regulatory capacities in the world economy. At the OECD, he wrote many of the recommended regulatory practices that are now used as benchmarks worldwide. He has worked with over 70 developing and industrialized countries in Europe, Asia, Africa, and the Americas in designing and implementing programs of regulatory reform. His work is focused on producing low-cost and low-risk regulatory regimes that support private sector development. His specialties include diagnostics of regulatory barriers to growth and poverty reduction, building institutional capacities to carry out broad-based reforms, helping governments implement regulatory impact analysis (RIA), simplifying administrative and licensing procedures and other barriers to entry, reforming business registration, and improving the effectiveness of independent utility regulators. He has written numerous articles and 20 books on regulatory reform.
